

INTRODUCTION

Ageing is a triumph of development. Increasing longevity is one of humanity's greatest achievements. People live longer because of improved nutrition, sanitation, advanced medical facilities, health care, education and economic well-being. The opportunities that this demographic shift presents are as endless as the contributions that a socially and economically active, secure and healthy ageing population can bring to society. The social and economic implications of ageing are profound, extending far beyond the individual older person and the immediate family, touching broader society and the entire community in unprecedented ways. Opportunities come with challenges; however, population ageing presents social, economic and cultural challenges to individuals, families, societies and the global community as well.

At the same time, older people are a precious, often ignored resource that makes an important contribution to the fabric of our societies. In both developed and developing countries, the ageing of the population raises concerns about whether or not a shrinking labour force will be able to support that part of the population who are commonly believed to be dependent on others (i.e., children and older people). With the number and proportion of older persons growing faster than any other age group, there are concerns about the capacities of societies to address the challenges associated with this demographic shift.

Active ageing policies and programmes are needed to enable people to continue to work according to their capacities and preferences as they grow older, and to prevent or delay disabilities and chronic diseases that are costly to individuals, families and the health care system. If ageing is to be a positive experience, longer life must be accompanied by continuing opportunities for health, participation and security. Active ageing applies to both individuals and population groups. It allows people to realize their potential for physical, social, and mental well-being throughout the life course and to participate in society according to their needs, desires and capacities, while providing them with adequate protection, security and care when they require assistance.

A life course perspective on ageing recognizes that older people are not one homogeneous group and that individual diversity tends to increase with age. Interventions that create supportive environments and foster healthy choices are important at all stages of life. It is how we choose to address the challenges and maximize the opportunities of a growing older population that will determine the future of humankind. To address the challenges and maximize the opportunities of a growing older population that will determine whether society will reap the benefits of the longevity dividend.

In India population of senior citizen was 19.8 million in 1951, 76 million in 2001 and 103.8 million in 2011. The projections indicate that the number of 60+ in India will increase to 198 million in 2030. The life expectancy, which was around 29 years in 1947, has increased manifold and now stands close to 63 years. There has been a steady rise in the population of older persons in Odisha. The number of elder persons has increased from 22.81 lakhs in 1991 to 30.39 lakhs in 2001 and 39.8 lakhs in 2011. The present proportion of 9.5 percent of senior citizens is estimated to reach 13.8 percent, numbering 62.69 lakhs in 2026.

The traditional norms and values of the Indian society laid stress on showing respect and providing care for the aged. However, in recent times, society is witnessing a gradual but definite withering of the joint family system, as a result of which a large number of parents are being neglected by their families exposing to lack of emotional, physical and financial support. These older persons are facing a lot of problems in the absence of adequate social security. This clearly reveals that ageing has become a major social challenge and there is a need to provide for the economic and health needs of the elderly and to create a social milieu, which is conducive and sensitive to emotional needs of the elderly.

Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007 was enacted to ensure need based maintenance for parents and senior citizens and their welfare. The Act provides for maintenance of parents/senior citizens by children/relatives made obligatory and justiciable through tribunals. The Act also provides for revocation of transfer of property by senior citizens in case of negligence by relatives and penal provision for abandonment of senior citizens. The Act envisages for establishment of old age homes for indigent senior citizens as well as creation of adequate medical facilities and security for senior citizens.

The National Policy for Older Persons 1999 envisages State support to ensure financial and food security, health care, shelter and other needs of older persons to improve the quality of their lives. The policy focuses on encouragement of families to take care of their older family members; provide care and protection to the vulnerable elderly including health care facilities. The Policy also advocates for promotion of research and training facilities to train geriatric care-givers and organizers of services for the elderly and create awareness regarding elderly persons to help them lead productive and independent life.

The Odisha State Policy for Senior Citizens 2016 recognizes that senior citizens need sustainable support systems to reduce their poverty and vulnerability, improve their health and wellbeing and be active citizens contributing more effectively to their communities. It therefore aims to provide critical support and health services according to their needs; increase the capacity of service providers especially in rural areas to provide accessible, relevant and high-quality services to senior citizens; ensure their inclusion and full participation in society by providing enabling environments; mainstream gender perspective in its programmes to specifically cater to the needs and requirements of the increasing number of elderly women; and inculcate family values and respect for the elderly for providing psychological support and informal care. The approach will be multi-sectoral involving government departments, non-governmental organizations and corporate entities. The necessary institutional capacity will be developed for its effective execution.

The Social Security and Empowerment of Persons with Disabilities (SSEPD) Department, Government of Odisha recognizes that Senior Citizens are valuable human resource for the society and seeks to create an environment that provides them opportunities for protection of their rights and full participation in society. As part of an integrated initiative for Senior Citizens the Department has launched this new umbrella scheme “ABADANA” for Welfare & Protection of Senior Citizens to be operated in a mission mode with manifold objectives. To ensure equitable justice for Senior Citizens the ABADANA scheme focuses on the following broad objectives:

SENIOR CITIZENS' SERVICE

The most precious asset the aged possess is their vast reservoir of accumulated experience so long as their health and mental faculties do not deteriorate. They can make valuable contributions towards development and welfare of the community through engaging in voluntary activities. Skills and time of the aged is a national asset, which should not be allowed to remain dormant, but should be harnessed in the national development process. While thinking about the utilization of the expertise and energies of the elderly, a distinction should be made between the capable and needy aged. With their expertise, the elderly can play a significant role in volunteering in different sectors like education, disaster mitigation and management, social welfare, health, rural development and employment under the National Rural Employment Guarantee Act.

The senior citizens can be best counselors for delinquents and young people engaged in substance abuse. They can also play a role as elders in the society and engage in numerous other services. Senior citizens can participate as volunteers in sectors like Value-based education, peace in multi-cultural societies, disaster management, social welfare, environment and ecology, rural development and employment generation, and Health etc. Value-based education is essential at a time when spiritual values are being eroded and children and their parents do not know much about our past history and culture and are being exposed to alien culture not in sync with indigenous wisdom, the elderly as repository of past culture and heritage can be helpful in imparting value-based education to children. In order to integrate the aged into volunteering, a Senior Citizen's Movement needs to be started in an organized manner. The starting point could be the establishment of Senior Citizen Service Centres of the aged at different levels.

The programme of Senior Citizen's Service Centres will empanel volunteers as well as senior citizens, orient and train them to work for welfare of senior citizens and the society at large. The centre will also strive to enrol BhartiNirman Volunteers in these centres to accelerate the grass root services further. Senior Citizens will be the focal point of these centres. In order to utilize the skills, talents and experiences of the elderly for the benefit of society, and also to re-establish their social status, senior citizens register with these centres and offer their valuable services to organizations, hospitals, schools, institutions for children with physical or mental challenges, etc. The centres will also conduct periodic meetings of the volunteers to review their experience and chalk out plans of action. The efforts of the centres are aimed at making volunteering a people's movement and to inspire others to follow on the same lines.

Financial assistance will be available for running Senior Citizen's Service Centres. However, hospitals, educational institutions, corporate houses, non-government organizations will be encouraged to set up such centres for which the SSEPD Department will extend all technical support and guidance.

HELPLINE & COUNSELLING SERVICES

The elderly, being less independent, need the care and support of others in several respects. Living arrangements are influenced by a variety of factors including number and availability of children and other relatives, kinship patterns of society, location of household, marital status, financial status, availability of services and physical and mental wellbeing of the elderly. Further, ageing is accompanied by multiple illnesses and physical ailments. Besides physical illnesses, the aged are more likely to be victims of poor mental health, which arises from senility, neurosis and extent of life satisfaction. Senior citizens even face numerous problems in maintaining their daily living needs, at times which leads to disturbances in their lives. They also often face neglect, illegal occupation on their properties, houses by even family members. Senior citizens not having their biological family's support and are forced to live a solitary life in the modern society often found suffering from "Empty Nest Syndrome". Similarly indigent senior citizens also face the situation of neglect and despair not only due to old age but also due to associated problems of ageing. Further, numbers of senior citizens due to neglect and loneliness develop serious mental problems & found affected with different associated problems.

Taking care of the elderly refers mainly to emotional support and assistance for daily living activities as well as regular counseling services along with support during emergencies. This need can be better addressed through voluntary support at the time of need. Under this component support for setting up of help lines and counseling services will be provided. These units will attend to emergencies and counseling support for senior citizens. The units will generally be located in police stations being operated by reputed institutions and will operate in conjunction with police stations.

Under this programme support for following will be admissible:

- a) installation of helpline
- b) honorarium to counselor
- c) honorarium to IT staff engaged for operation of telephone, computer & social media
- d) furniture & equipment
- e) expenses for telephone, computer peripherals and
- f) other recurring & contingencies.

SURGERY & ASSISTIVE DEVICES

A sizeable percentage of senior citizens suffer from some sort of disabilities related to old age. The rapid change in the demographic profile along with increased life expectancy and advancements in health care and other developmental indices, population is gradually progressing to the phenomenon of population ageing. The senior citizens suffering from different age related disability/infirmity such as low vision, cataract, loss of complete vision, hearing loss, neuro-cognitive and locomotor disabilities etc. requiring to be supported for minor surgeries and to be provided with such assisted-living devices which can restore near normalcy in their bodily functions, overcoming the disability/ infirmity manifested.

Under this component the senior citizens will be assisted for minor surgeries and will be provided with assistive physical aids and assisted living devices for such senior citizens suffering from age related disabilities/ infirmities. The appliances may include walking sticks, elbow crutches, walkers / crutches, tripods / quad pods, spectacles, hearing aids, knee caps, artificial dentures and wheelchair etc. Such physical aids and assisted-living devices will commensurate with the extent of disability/ infirmity that is manifested among the eligible senior citizens. In case of multiple disabilities/ infirmities, the assistive devices will be given in respect of each disability/impairment that is manifested in the same person.

The appliances may be fabricated by DDRCs and other agencies or can be procured from empanelled suppliers of SSEPD Department with rate contract; Government agencies like ALIMCO; companies having rate contract with Central/ State Government; or through an open and transparent tender procedure. ## STRENGTHENING OF SCAs / SHGs

Senior citizens in difficult situation often fail to raise their voice and earn their livelihood at individual capacities and are forced to live in acute problems. Such situations at times become fatal for them. Senior citizens can address to their problems and day to day needs through organized efforts and sharing of responsibilities among them. Under this component support is provided to Senior Citizen Associations and Self Help Groups of senior citizens for formation of VridhaSanghas / Senior Citizen Associations / Self Help Groups at different levels for mobilization of the senior citizens, articulate their interests, promote and undertake programmes and activities for their well being.

The SHGs duly constituted and registered with DSSOs will be supported with one time assistance of Rs. 50,000/- for initial activity support and start-up capital. Under this component support for VridhaSanghas / Senior Citizen Associations may also be considered for a limited period especially to strengthen them in the initial years of establishment.

TRAINING OF CAREGIVERS

With the rising population of old age and with upcoming challenges related to longevity and disability including health and various other related issues such as social, emotional, security, there is a felt need of human resources who are qualified and have knowledge and skill on various dimension of elderly issues to work in the government and non- governmental organization working for elderly population and issues related to ageing in the country in the coming decades. It has also been recognized that there are hardly any systematic or scientific orientation and exposures given to these officials working on elderly issues. To address the situation regular training and orientation is to be taken up to educate the workers on basic concept of ageing and its process; knowledge of physical, mental, and social changes in people as they age and the effect of an ageing population in the society; awareness on the interface of normal ageing and age – related diseases; lifelong learning; knowledge on elderly policies and programmes at macroscopic and microscope perspective etc.

There are certain activities, which need to be organized at regional level to build the capacity of the voluntary sector. Unless this is organized into centres of excellence in ageing very little improvement is likely to be achieved. Regional Resource and Training Centres may also be considered to be promoted depending upon needs and demands for running regular training programmes.

Under this component support will be provided for organization of capacity building training programmes for caregivers, workers of old age homes and day care centres etc. in case of RRTCs recurring expenses will be admissible depending on specified activities to be undertaken by the centre.

SENSITIZATION&AWARENESS

Issues concerning senior citizens as well as geriatric and age care service is a cross cutting issue for many line departments and a number of officers and staff of Government, PRIs, NGOs and Corporate are involved in providing services to the senior citizens. Many of such employees due to lack of adequate basic knowledge and understanding of problems and issues concerning senior citizens are unable to handle the matters relating to them. To address the issue special provision is made to sensitize Government officials, NGO heads, PRI members, corporate managers and other officials on issues concerning senior citizens.

Services and infrastructure for senior citizens are rapidly increasing and institutions in Government, NGO and even corporate sectors are coming forward to work for them. But due to want of proper information on availability of services for them, senior citizens are unable to take the benefit of those services. Further, special efforts will also be required to sensitize school and college going children towards the cause of elderly persons. To sensitize the senior citizens and their families on services, schemes and programmes available for them, following activities will be undertaken:

- a) IEC material preparation (print/ electronic)
- b) Organization of fairs/ festivals
- c) Publication of magazines/ news letters
- d) TV/ Radio/ Print media publicity
- e) Cultural shows/ street plays
- f) Community level meetings/ campaigns
- g) Hoardings, Posters, SMS broadcast
- h) Events for senior citizens (sports/cultural)
- i) Any other awareness activities

RESEARCH & DOCUMENTATION

Although ageing and disease have always been a part of society, future demographic trends, economics, and a new set of expectations of today's and tomorrow's older adults demand a rethinking of how to promote a healthy and protected living for senior citizens. These socio-economic factors and others have been translated into dire forecasts that predict astronomical health care costs, diminished quality of life, and a health care system that teeters on the breaking point. However, the potential of an impending crisis to capture and focus the attention of the public, policy makers, and health care and rehabilitation professionals, combined with the ready availability of new technologies, may actually create an opportunity—opportunity to envision and implement new ways of delivering better services that will not only respond to the “disruptive demographics of an aging society” but also improve comprehensive service packages.

Recent decades have seen the concept of active ageing move from a biomedical paradigm to bio-psychosocial and sociopolitical perspectives. As a result, ageing is no longer perceived simply as a trait inherent within the individual, defined according to biomedical conditions alone, and captured solely according to medical diagnostic categories. Ageing is now understood as a complex experience, one that is defined and shaped by the social and political contexts within which it occurs. Much can be learned about the experience of senior citizens, therefore, by studying how they are living, organizing, and advocating for their rights across different social and political conditions. Similarly documentation on issues relating to senior citizens and initiatives is another arena of concern. For this purpose the Department proposes to support such research and documentation activities.

Institutions with track record of high standards of education, research and welfare activities for senior citizens may request for taking up research and documentation work, which will be decided on merit and case to basis.

IMPLEMENTATION OF POLICY GOALS

The Odisha State Senior Citizens Policy 2016 in consonance with the National Policy for Senior Citizens 2011 reiterates the commitment of the State of Odisha in ensuring its citizens that they are able to age with security and dignity and continue to participate in society as citizens with full rights. It emphasizes eight areas of intervention, namely income security in old age, health care, safety and security, housing, productive ageing, welfare, inter-generational bonding and enhancing involvement and participation of media on ageing issues. The issues of the senior citizens are cross-sectoral and demands strategic partnership across government departments, the public and private sectors, the non-governmental organizations, volunteer organizations, civil society and local communities. The Department of Social Security and Empowerment of Persons with Disabilities being the co-coordinating department will facilitate the process achieving policy goals as well as implementation of provisions of Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007. For this purpose special initiatives will be taken through organization of range of activities and special events.

Institutions both in Government and non-government sectors are eligible for submitting projects on specific areas of activities as envisaged in Policy document. Such projects will be considered for approval depending upon the merit of the proposal and need of such activities.

ROLE OF DISTRICT ADMINISTRATION

The District Administration is expected to coordinate and converge the programmes and schemes of the Government for promoting welfare programmes and protect the rights and opportunities for the senior citizens in the district. District Administration needs to undertake detailed survey to identify all indigent senior citizens, living in the district so that an action plan to cover each person by appropriate benefits can be drawn up. Most of the problems of the poor and destitute senior citizens can be dealt with by effectively bringing them into the fold of Government schemes that already exist. Awareness among the implementing officers about the need of focussing on needs of the elderly is to be created. District Collector will be responsible for the following activities:

- a) Survey and identification of all indigent senior citizens as well as convergence and synergy among various development schemes for senior citizens.

- b) Ensure issue of AADHAR Card, issue of concessions and other necessary documents to all senior citizens and facilitate different services for pensioners.
- c) Support for surgery and therapies as well as supply and fitting of rehabilitation aids and appliances to all needy senior citizens with disabilities.

- e) Provide opportunities to all senior citizens for redressal of grievances, settlement of issues concerning justice.
- f) Promote participation of line departments, NGOs, Red Cross and other CSR agencies in the process of welfare of senior citizens.

ROLE OF BLOCK/ ULB ADMINISTRATION

The Block/ ULB Administration are expected to coordinate and converge the programmes and schemes of the Government for promoting comprehensive welfare and protect the rights and entitlements of the senior citizens in their respective jurisdiction through:

- a) Coverage of senior citizens under different schemes of poverty alleviation, housing, pension, food security etc.
- b) Facilitate services to all pensioners.
- c) Monitor working of programmes and projects for senior citizens.
- d) Facilitate access to legal aid through Gram Panchayats and legal aid cells.
- e) Facilitate organization of and support Self Help Groups and Senior Citizen Associations.
- f) Sensitization of local leaders and PRI members on rights issues of senior citizens.
- g) Participation of CBOs, BNVs, and other stake holders at the grass root level.

BUDGET PROVISION & UTILIZATION

The Collectors concerned should make the estimated budget requirement along with the action plan for their respective districts. In case of NGOs the application/ request for funds shall be submitted to the SSEPD Department in prescribed proforma enclosed in Annexure- C along with support documents.

Proper records of beneficiaries, the acknowledgement of receipt of appliances by them, the tender procedure followed etc should be maintained as per Government financial procedures.
